

List of Principal Editorial Notes.

	Page
The Russo-Japanese War.
[Giving references to documents in Gooch & Temperley , Vol. II]	1
Do. [Referring to Sir C. Hardinge's despatches upon the internal situation in Russia] ...	5
Dogger Bank Incident: Draft of Agreement for International Commission of Inquiry.
[Russian attempts to alter Article II]	31, 38
Do. [Giving the findings of the Commission, and references to authorities]	38
Passage of Russian Warships through the Straits.
[Summarizing preliminary negotiations, and giving references]	41
Do. [Noting the absence of protests from Powers other than Great Britain]	49
Do. [Attitude of the Porte]	52
Do. [Enumerating the Russian steamships reported as having passed the Straits between November 10 and November 14, 1904]	55
The Straits Question.
[Giving text of memorandum by Sir C. Hardinge, dated November 16, 1906]	58-60
Integrity of China.
[Noting agreement of the Powers with circular of the United States]	69
Peace Overtures.
[Giving references to various authorities]	73
Japanese Terms of Peace.
[Quoting Lord Lansdowne's views of June 3, 1905]	79
Peace Negotiations.
[Quoting views of President Roosevelt, June 5, 1905]... ..	81
Do. [Detailing the offer of good offices by the United States and their acceptance by Japan]	88
Do. [Despatch of Russian plenipotentiaries to Washington]	90
Lease of Wei-hai-Wei.
[Giving information as to British attitude]	116
Negotiations for renewal of Anglo-Japanese Alliance.
[Viscount Hayashi's proposals of May 26, 1905]	128
British Revised Draft of June 5, 1905.
[Introductory]	134
British Revised Draft of June 6, 1905.
[Referring to conversation with Viscount Hayashi, and giving text of Preamble and Articles I and II]	136-7
Text of Anglo-Japanese Agreement, August 12, 1905.
[Indicating main stages in framing of the Agreement]	164-5
Private letter from Lord Lansdowne to Sir C. Hardinge, September 4, 1905.
[Giving substance and referring to similar personal letter to Count Benckendorff] ...	172
Lord Lansdowne's Despatch to Sir C. Hardinge and to Sir F. Bertie of September 6, 1905.
[Giving details as to drafting of the despatch and of its communication to France and Russia]	173-4
Beginning of the Anglo-Russian Rapprochement.
[Referring to Sir C. Hardinge's letter of November 22, 1903, No. 181 (b)]	183
French attitude to Anglo-Russian negotiations.
[Quoting a conversation between Lord Lansdowne and M. Cambon of April 29, 1904]... ..	189
Anglo-Russian negotiations. '1
[Interruption by the war; King Edward's friendly message of May 1905]	195
Proposed visit of King Edward to the Emperor Nicholas II.
[Quoting from a private letter of Sir Edward Grey to Lord Knollys of March 28, 1906]	231
Visit of Representatives of the Duma to London.
[Giving reference to Sir Sidney Lee: King Edward VII]	241
Russian Committee for discussing Anglo-Russian Negotiations.
[Quoting extract from Siebert referring to a meeting of February 1, 1907]	270-1

	Page
The Mongolian Frontier Formula.
[Describing negotiations between Great Britain and Russia, and between Russia and Japan]	284
Do. [Giving later history of same negotiations and referring to the Franco-Japanese treaty of June 10, 1907, and to the Russo-Japanese treaty of July 30, 1907]	285-6
The British Expedition to Thibet, 1903-4.
[Describing conditions between 1890-1903]	305
British Relations with Thibet, 1904.
[Summarizing despatch from Government of India of June 30, 1904]	313-4
Re-opening of Negotiations in 1906.
[Referring to Chinese adhesion to the Lhasa Convention; quoting a paper of Count Benckendorff presented on January 2, 1906, referring to Anglo-Chinese negotiations]	322-3
The Anglo-Russian Arrangement concerning Thibet, August 31, 1907.
[Introductory to text]... ..	352
Negotiations relating to Persia.
[Giving reference to authorities, and account of internal conditions in Persia]	356
The "Curzon Despatch" of September 21, 1899.
[Summarizing omitted passages]	356
Persian Succession.
[Details about the new Shah, his son, and the Constitution]	424
The Persian Gulf Question, and the delimitation of spheres in Persia.
[Quoting minutes by Sir C. Hardinge, by Sir Edward Grey, and by Lord Fitzmaurice]	458
British and Russian drafts of June 6, 1907.
[Explanatory]	464-5
The Persian Gulf Declaration, August 8, 1907.
[Giving proposed text]	497
Negotiations regarding Afghanistan.
[Introductory]	522
Do. [Referring to statements by Lord Lansdowne and Sir Edward Grey on the meaning of "buffer-state"]	535
Anglo-Russian Convention respecting Afghanistan, August 31, 1907.
[Quoting minute by Sir C. Hardinge upon evolution of British counter-draft]	540-1
Do. [Introductory to text]	541
Do. [Referring to question of the consent of the Amir of Afghanistan]	577
The Reception of the Anglo-Russian Convention.
[Referring to verbal explanation given to Japan]	579
Communication to Persia.
[Referring to Sir C. Spring-Rice's letter to Persian Minister for Foreign Affairs of September 4, 1907, and to discussions in Parliament in 1911-2]	590
Attitude of Germany.
[Giving reference to G.P.]	602