

shortage being accentuated by the fact that so many of the largest hotels were "commandeered" in order to house the many Government departments and other centres of War activity. These buildings have now been restored to public use, but there is still at times a shortage of accommodation, and wherever possible arrangements should be made well in advance. Until conditions and prices attain greater stability it must be understood that the tariffs stated in the following pages are inserted rather as an indication of the grade of the various establishments than as a means of making even an approximate estimate of the cost of a visit. In all cases inquiry should be made beforehand as to terms.
