

INDEX

- Anchi-hsien, Chekiang, 294.
Anfu, Kiangsi, 198, 202.
Anglo-French forces, 255, 258, 276.
Anjen, Hunan, 155.
Anking. Capture of, 80, 88, 172, 188; importance of, 220, 222; stoutly defended, 221, 226 f.; besiegers threatened by outside Taiping armies, 230, 231; recaptured, 235; Tsêng's base, 236, 242, 272, 276, 278, 288, 336, 348.
Arrow War, 250.
Arsenal, Kiangnan, Establishment, 303.
Assistant King. See Shi Ta-k'ai.
- Bannermen, 2-7.
Bonham, Sir George, 247.
Brennan, Major, 264.
Brine, Lindesay, quoted, 71, 246 (n. 1).
Bourboulon, M. de, 246.
Burgevine, Henry, 252; commands "Ever Victorious Army," 259; negotiations regarding service at Nanking, 260-262, 273; mutiny in Sungkiang and trip to Shanghai to secure money, 262 f.; dismissal of, 263; joins Taipings, 266, 273; death of, 295.
- Ch'aling, Hunan, 153, 155.
Ch'angchien Bridge, Nanking, 280.
Ch'angchow, Kiangsu, 219, 223, 239, 267, 282, 286, 287.
Changechow, Fukien, 295.
Changhwa, Chekiang, 294.
Chang Kuo-liang, 張國樑, 188; captures Chinkiang, 203; defeated at Shaotien, 207; defeated at Nanking, 218; death of, 219.
Chang Lo-hsin, 張落刑 (Nien rebel chief), 216.
Changning, Hunan, 149, 155.
Changsha, Hunan, siege of, 77, 141, 148 f., 335, 336, 351.

- Changshu, Kiangsu, 264, 275.
 Changteh, Hunan, 78, 168.
 Chang Shu-sheng, 張樹聲, 299.
 Chang Tsung-yu, 張總愚 (Nien rebel chief), 297; enters Shantung, 301; invades Chihli, 301; captured, 302.
 Chang Yu-liang, 張玉良, 218, 220, 222.
 Chang Yun-lan, 張運蘭, 213, 216, 221, 224, 225, 234, 236, 243, 272.
 Chaochow, Chihli, 85.
 Ch'ao-hsien, Anhui, 188.
 Cheketenpu, 遮克敦布, 193.
 Ch'enchow, Hunan, 77, 155.
 Ch'eng Kuo-jui, 陳國瑞, 317.
 Ch'eng Hsueh-chi, 程學啟, assigned to Li Hung-chang, 242; Tsêng requests his help at Nanking, 260; friction with Gordon, 265; receives surrender of Soochow, 267, 274, 282; captures Kashing, 285, 286.
 Ch'eng Lan-pin, 陳蘭彬, 323.
 Chengtu, Ssuch'uan, 275.
 Ch'eng Yu-ch'eng, the Yingwang, (英王) 陳玉成, appointed Yingwang, 134, 190, 206; raids Hupeh, 207; attacked at Sanho, 211; joins Nienfei against Tolunga and Pao Ch'ao, 216; 220, 224; to Hupeh, 230 f.; meets Parkes, 231 (n. b); attacks Anking, 233; surrendered to imperialists, 243, 274, 278.
 Ch'iao Lake, Anhui, 212.
 Ch'ichow, Anhui, 235, 272, 278.
 China Inland Mission, 304.
 Chinese Army ('Tents of the Green Standard'), 7-16.
 Ch'ingshan, Kiangsi, 195.
 Ching Wen-t'ai, 44.
 Ch'ingyang, Anhui, 280.
 Chin Kwo-chen, 金國琛, 281.
 Chining, Shantung, 299.
 Chingkiang, Kiangsu, 80, 82, 187, 203, 224, 237, 243.

- Chishan, Anhui, 216.
 Ch'ishui, Hupeh, 231.
 Chishui-hsien, Kiangsi, 210.
 Chow Hung-shan, 周鳳山, 167, 168, 183, 195, 198, 202.
 Chowkiak'ow, Honan, 299, 301.
 Chow T'ien-chioh, 周天爵, 43, 119.
 Ch'üanchow, Kwangsi, 75.
 Chuchow, Chekiang, 237, 295.
 Ch'uchow, Chekiang, 212.
 Ch'uchow, Anhui, 84, 207.
 Chu Hsi, quoted, 355.
 Chu Kiu-t'ao, 朱九濤, founder of revolutionary brotherhood, 52; relations with Taiping leaders, 52, 62; struggle for leadership, 54; identification with T'ienteh, 54-62; connection with Ming Dynasty, 65, 128, 364.
 Chungwang, see Li Siu-ch'eng.
 Chu Hsieh-k'wen, 朱錫珉, 85.
 Chu P'ing-lung, 朱品隆, 233, 280.
 Chu Sen-i, 朱孫詒, 162.
 Chu Yu-hang, 褚汝航, 159, 167, 168.
 Civil Government, Councils, 17; the six Boards, 17; the Censorate, 18; the Foreign Office, "Tsungli Yamen," 19; provincial government, 19 ff.; Tartar General, 21; viceroy, 20; governor, 21; treasurer, 21; judge, 22; salt controller, 22; literary chancellor, 22; local government, 24 ff.; circuits, 24; prefectures, 24; independent sub-prefectures, 25; districts, 25 f.; village chiefs, 26.
 Commandments, the Ten, as explained by Taipings, 108 ff., 365.
 Cordier, H., quoted, 311 (n. 8).
 Cruelty, 192, 283; slaughter at Nanking, 290; at Anking, 358; at San Ho K'ou, 358; at Fuchow, 358.
 DeGroot, J. J. M., quoted on origins of rebellion, 30 (n. 5). d'Aiguebelle, Paul, 259.
 Dew, Roderick, 258, 259.
 Eastern King, see Yang Siu-ch'ing.

- Ever Victorious Army, Organisation and early campaigns, 252; Sungkiang, 249; Kiating, Tsingpoo, 255; Tzeki, 258; Forrester takes command, followed by Burgevine, 259; negotiations with to go to Nanking, 260 ff.; mutiny and Burgevine's attack on Chinese, 262 f.; Holland, then Gordon take command, 262, 264; Taitang, 264; disaffection in, 265; K'unshan, 265; progress through Kiangsu, 265 ff.; disbanded, 268; estimate of its value, 268 ff., 274, 276, 282, 286.
- Fanch'eng, Hupeh, 285.
- Fengyang, Anhui, 84, 212, 216.
- Fêng Yun-shan, the King of the South, (南王) 馮雲山, conversion of, 35; at "Thistle Mount," 36; goes to Hwahsien and back, 37; besieged in Kweiping, 40 f.; rescued at Hwachow, 42; brings Hung to head the movement, 50; alleged to be follower of Chu Kiu-t'ao, 52 f.; one of originators of the movement, 62, 65; proclaimed King of South, 78, 130; killed, 75 f., 364.
- Finances, sale of ranks, 156, 159; help requested from provinces, 173; difficulties in, 174-176, 197; likin, 193, 194, 221, 272, 285; bureau of supplies, 203, 285, 289; cost of Tsêng's campaign, Introduction, xii, 367.
- Flotilla, suggestion of, 151; marines, 158; kinds of boats, 158; proposed improvements, 159 f.; commander, 159; damage sustained, 161; capture of Siangtan, 163; defeat at Tsingkong, 163; new recruits to, 168; operations at Yochow, 169; in the Han River, 173; advance to Kiukiang, 176; operations about Kiukiang and in the Poyang Lake, 177 ff.; recapture of Hukow, 183; reinforced, 196 f.; opens river communications, 201; calls for reinforcements on the Hwai River and in Anhui, 221, 273.
- Fontanier, M., 309, 315.
- Forrester, Edward, 252.
- Franco-Chinese forces, 259, 268, 281, 285, 294.
- Fuchow, Chihli, 85.
- Fuchow, Kiangsi, 197, 199, 210, 213, 231, 293.
- Fukien, Kiangsi, 284.
- Fushan, Kiangsu, 264.
- Fuyang, Chekiang, 278, 281.
- Giquel, P., 259.
- God-worshippers, organisation of, 36; transformation into mili-

- tary companies, 38; fights with soldiers, 38 f.; rally at Kint'ien to start rebellion, 42.
- Gordon, Charles George, commander of "Ever Victorious Army," 262, 264 ff.; campaigns, 264-267; anger over executed wangs, 267; estimate of his place in suppression of the rebellion, 268 ff., 276, 279; on the fortifications at Nanking, 288, 359, Introduction, xii.
- Hakkas, 32, 33, 36, 42, 53.
- Hamburg, Rev. Theodore, 35 ff.; theory concerning T'ienteh, 55 (n. 7), 65, 66 (n. 14), 69, 90.
- Hangchow, Chekiang, 218, 237, 239, 268, 279, 281, 285, 287, 336.
- Hankow, 78, 172, 179.
- Hanyang, Hupeh, 78, 87 f., 172.
- Hart, (Sir) Robert, 319; quoted, 369.
- Hengchow, Hunan, 153, 155, 157.
- Hengshan, Hunan, 149.
- Ho Chun, 和春, pursues rebels from Kweichow, 75; becomes commander-in-chief, 188; captures Yangchow, 203; defeated, 218; suicide of, 219.
- Hoshan, Anhui, 231.
- Hochow, Anhui, 280.
- Holland, Capt., 262, 264.
- Hope, Sir James, 253, 254.
- Hsiakwan, Nanking, 260, 279.
- Hsiang Yung, 何榮, T'ituh in Kwangsi, 43; failures of, 44 f.; at Yungan, 45; appointed commander-in-chief, defends Kweilin, 48 f.; Imperial Commissioner, 78 f.; commences siege of Nanking, 82 f., 86; routed and commits suicide, 188.
- Hsiao Ch'ao-kwei, King of the West, (西王) 蕭湖貴, mouthpiece of Jesus, 39, 41, 50; fails T'ienteh, 59, 64, 72; leads siege of Changsha, 77, 99; condemns parents to death, 114; appointed king of West, 78, 129 f.; death of, 77.
- Hsiao Ch'i-ch'iang, 蕭啟江, 213, 217.
- Hsiaoeh'i Station, 217.
- Hsienning, Hupeh, 169, 172.
- Hsinch'u, Kwangsi, 44, 48.
- Hsingan, Kwangsi, 75.
- Hsingkwo, Hupeh, 176, 233.

- Hsi Pao-t'ien, 席寶田, 284, 294.
- Hsiuning, Anhui, 224, 231, 233, 278.
- Hsü Kwang-tsin, 席廣綰, 79, 359.
- Hsüchow, Kiangsu, 299.
- Hsu Tsung-yang, 許宗揚, 85.
- Hsüwan, Kiangsi, 293.
- Huchow, Chekiang, 237, 243, 268, 272, 284, 294.
- Huichow, Anhui, 212, 218, 224, 230 f., 243, 277, 278, 294.
- Hu I-kwang, the Yuwang, (豫王) 胡以洗, 88, 206.
- Hu Lin-yi, 胡林翼, recalled to Changsha, 163, 167; sent to Changteh, 168; to Yochow, 168; defends Wuhan cities, 178; treasurer, then governor of Hupeh, 179, 182; sends help to Kiangsi, 196, 200, 201; drives out Yingwang from Hupeh, 207; Tsêng confers with, 215 f.; again opposes Yingwang, 230, 233; death of, 236, 368.
- Huk'ow, Kiangsi, 177, 183, 201, 202, 208, 212, 226.
- Hung Fu-t'ien, 洪福瑱, proclaimed as God's grandson, 104; quoted, 138; proclaimed T'ienwang II, 290; escape from Nanking, 291; wanderings, capture and death, 294.
- Hung Jen-kan (Hung Jin), the Kanwang, (壬王) 洪仁干, 35, 36, 65, 68, 69, 90, 133, 190, 221 (n.), 225, 230.
- Hung Jen-tah, 洪仁達, 290, 291.
- Hung Lo Ho, Hupeh, 301.
- Hung Siu-ch'üan, the T'ienwang, (天王) 洪秀全, failure in examinations, illness and visions, 33 ff.; converts Fêng and Hung Jen-kan, 35; trip to Kwangsi, 36; under missionary instruction, 36; tries to release Fêng, 37; rescued by Yang, 42; heads insurgent government, 43, 50; overcomes mutiny through divine interposition, 45; organises government at Yungan, 46; relation to Chu Kiu-t'ao, 52 ff.; reaches Changsha and there proclaimed emperor, 69, 77; incapacity of, 58, 73; desires to go to Honan, 81; preparation of in Christianity, 90 ff.; religious conceptions of, 92 ff.; deity of, 98 f.; confident reliance on God, 104; creation of new wangs, 133 f., 138, 206; orders raid of Chungwang, Chekiang-Kiangsu, 219; orders Chungwang north, 223, 241, 275; refuses to abandon Nanking,

- 280, 283, 285; prepares for Nanking's fall, 285, 287; suicide of, 290, 364, 365.
- Hung Ta-ch'üan, T'ienteh, (天德) 洪大全, joins the Taipings, 43; co-sovereign, 43; captured at Yungan, 47; identification with Chu Kiu-t'ao, 56-62; confession of, 56-59; head of Ming party, 66; use of T'ienteh to designate the new era, 70 f.; suppression of knowledge concerning, 71, 76; attitude towards Taiping religion, 117, 128, 129, 132, 138, 364.
- Hungmen, Kwangsi, 45.
- Hwabsien, Kwangtung, home of T'ienwang, 33; of Lo Pingchang, 77.
- Hwaian, Kiangsu, 221.
- Hwaiking-fu, Honan, 84.
- Hwaining, Anhui, 233.
- Hwaiyüan, Anhui, 281.
- Hwangchow, Hupeh, 87, 89, 155, 172, 215, 231.
- Hwangmei, Hupeh, 211.
- Hwang Mien, 黃冕, suggests small river boats, 158 (n.); patron of Tsêng Kuo-ch'üan, 209, 336.
- Hyson, 265, 267.
- Ignatieff, Nikolai, offers Russian intervention, 227.
- Ihsien, Anhui, 225, 231.
- Ining, Kiangsi, 153, 182 f.
- Iwakura Embassy, 324.
- Iyang, Kiangsi, 210.
- Jaochow, Kiangsi, 180 f., 195, 196, 199, 210, 212, 230.
- Jen Chu, Nien rebel chief, 任柱, 297, 301.
- Jenhsien, Chihli, 85.
- John, Rev. Griffith, 245 (n. 1).
- Kaifeng, Honan, 84.
- Kanchow, Kiangsi, 195, 198.
- K'angshi, Emperor, 9, 174, 313, 366.
- Kaochiao, Kiangsu, 254.
- Kaoching, Chihli, 85.
- Kashing, Chekiang, 220, 285.
- Keemun, Anhui, 221, 222, 225, 226, 233, 275, 277.
- Kêng Chung-ming, Prince of Kwangtung, 8.

- Kenny, Lieut., 258.
 Kiaho, Hunan, 149, 155.
 Kian, Kiangsi, 153, 184, 194, 195, 198, 202, 209.
 Kiang Chung-i, 江忠義, 280.
 Kiang Chung-yüan, 江忠源, leads "braves" to Kweilin, 49; defeats insurgents at Sohyi Ferry, 75; defends Changsha, 147; suppresses bandits, 149; goes to Nanchang, 87; pursues rebels to Kiukiang, 87; urges Tsêng to build flotilla, 151; loses Lüchow, commits suicide, 88; Tsêng's estimate of, 89 (n. 21), 368.
 Kiang Tsung-tsi, 江忠濟, 88, 167.
 Kiangpoo, Kiangsu, 280.
 Kiangyin, Kiangsu, 266.
 Kiating, Kiangsu, 255.
 Kiayinchow, Kwangtung, 295.
 Kiench'ang, Kiangsi, 197, 199, 210, 211, 231, 284.
 Kienchow, Anhui, 217.
 Kienshan, Anhui, 211.
 Kienteh, Anhui, 225.
 Kinchu-kwan, Anhui, 273.
 Kingkow, Hupch, 89, 169, 178, 179.
 Kingtechen, Kiangsi, invaded by rebels, 181, 212; importance of, 212; recapture of, 214; road to Keemun kept open through, 226, 230; captured by rebels, 231, 233.
 Kinhwa, Chekiang, 233, 277, 281.
 Kint'ien, Kwangsi, rallying place of rebels, 42, 43.
 Kishen (Ch'ishan), 琦善, 79, 83.
 Kiukiang, 80, 83, 87, 177, 196, 199, 201, 206, 230, 285, 346.
 Kuo Sung-lin, 郭松林, 299.
 Ku Lung-hsien, 古隆賢, 282.
 Kung Hsia-tzu, Nien rebel chief, 龔瞎子, 216.
 K'ung, Prince, 250, 312, 315.
 K'ung Yu-teh, Prince of Kwangsi, 8.
 K'unshan (Quinsan), Kiangsu, 265, 279.
 Kwachow, Chekiang, 203.
 Kwan Wen, 宦文, Tartar General, 168; sends force to King-

- kow, 169; Hukwang viceroy, 183, 200; requests Tsêng's appointment to Ssuch'uan, 215, 251; Chihli viceroy, 301, 322.
- Kwanghsin, Kiangsi, 179, 181, 197, 210, 212, 221, 233, 294.
- Kwangteh, Anhui, 223, 294.
- K'weichow-fu, Ssuch'uan, 215.
- Kweilin, Kwangsi, 48, 75.
- Kwei Ming, 桂明, 176.
- Kweip'ing, Kwangsi, 40, 41, 42, 122.
- Kweihshen, Kwangtung, 122.
- Kweitech-fu, Honan, 84.
- Kweiyang, Hunan, 77, 155.
- Lai Han-ying, 賴漢英, 87.
- Lai Wen-kwang, Nien rebel chief, 賴文光, 297, 301.
- Lanshan, Hunan, 155.
- Le Brethon, A. E., 259.
- Legge, Dr. James, 245 (n. 1).
- Leiyang, Hunan, 149.
- Liang A-fah, 35 (n. 14).
- Liang Ch'i-ch'iao, Introduction, xiii.
- Li Han-chang, 李瀚章, 209, 211, 264, 301, 368.
- Li Hung-chang, 李鴻章, 167; fighting in Anhui, 176; goes to Kian, 213; recommended for governor, 222; designated to Kiangsu, 237, 241; prepares army and goes to Shanghai, 242; offers Burgevine to Tsêng, 260 ff., 274; beheads wangs at Soochow, 267, 283; captures Changshu, 275, 278, 284, 286; declines to go to Nanking, 288 f.; made earl, 293; becomes acting viceroy, 299; advises Tsêng not to retire, 300; sent against Nien-fei, 300; appointed Hukwang viceroy, 301; pursues and defeats rebels, 301 f.; ordered to T'ientsin, 319, 321, 322; desires students sent abroad, 323 f., 325; Tsêng's successor—comparison, 328, 336, 337, 360, 366, 368.
- Li Hung-ch'ing, 44.
- Likin, 193, 194, 221, 272, 285.
- Liling, Hunan, 153.
- Li Mung ch'un, 李孟羣, 178.
- Linghwai Pass, 84, 216, 299.

- Lingkiang-fu, Kiangsi, 184, 199, 202.
- Li Shi-chung, 李世忠, 243, 277.
- Li Shi-hsien, the Shiwang, (待王) 李世賢, appointed to office, 206; attacks Huichow, 224, 230; repulsed by Tso Tsung-tang, 233, 238, 272; urges Chungwang to abandon the cause, 282; goes to Kiangsi, 284; leads remnants of rebels to final defeat, 295.
- Li Shou-i, 李續宜, defends Huk'ow against Shi Ta-k'ai, 202, 208, 213; governor of Hupeh, 236; at Lüchow, 243; imperial commissioner, 271.
- Li Shou-pin, 李續賓, 200, 207, 208, 211, 216.
- Li Sing-yüan, 李星沅, 43.
- Li Siu-ch'eng, the Chungwang or Loyal King, (忠王) 李秀成, quoted 37, 38 (n.), 53 (n.), urges T'ienwang to leave Nanking, 103; attitude to religion, 117; attacks of on Great Camp, 188; sketch of, 190; on the disturbances of 1856, 191; on imperial cruelty, 192; created Chungwang, 134, 205, 207; retrieves battle at San Ho, 211; captures Hangchow and defeats the Great Camp, 218; invades Kiangsu, 219, 251 f.; ordered north, 223; orders that Anhui be held, 226; kept out of Shanghai, 227; meets foreigners at Tsingpu, 229; joins the Shiwang, 230; raid into Kiangsi and Hupeh, 233; tries to draw imperialists away from Anking, 234; defeat and retreat to Fuchow, 234; captures Chekiang cities, 237 f.; victories over Ward, 255; suspects the Muwang, 266; attacks Yuhwat'ai, 272 f., 280; urges abandonment of Nanking, 280; on loss of Fuyang, 281; on explosion of mine, 282; urges general retirement, 283; on "sweet dew," 284; capture of, 290 f.; trial and death of, 291; autobiography of, 291, 336, 366.
- Lindley, A. F., 90, 105; as a source, 125 (n. 16), 245 (n. 1).
- Li Ts'u-Ch'ing, mentioned, 181.
- Li Ts'ung-i, mentioned, 305.
- Lin Hung-ch'iang, 林鳳祥, 42; commands northern expedition, 82 f., 87.
- Linghwai, Anhui, 299.
- Lin Shao-chang, the Changwang, (章王) 林紹章, 206.

- Lin Tse-hsü, 林則徐, 43, 79.
 Liu Chang-ch'ing, mentioned, 46.
 Liu Chang-yu, 劉長佑, 49, 88.
 Liu Ch'ieh, 劉傑, 309.
 Liu Ming-ch'üan, 劉銘傳, 299.
 Li Ung Bing, 369.
 Liu Sung-shan, 劉松山, 294, 299.
 Liuho, Anhui, 84.
 Liuyang, Hunan, 149, 153, 182.
 Liyang Hsien, Kiangsu, 282.
 Li Yüan-tu, 李元度, 224.
 Lop'ing, Kiangsi, 231.
 Lo Ping-chang, 駱秉章, 77, 208, 212.
 Lo Ta-kang, 羅大綱, 42, 82, 180, 238 (n. 24).
 Lo Tse-nan, 羅澤南, organises Siang army, 147; his force
 the nucleus of Tsêng's army, 149; helps draw up regulations, 157, 167; in siege of Wuchang, 172; dissuades Tsêng from suicide, 178; to Poyang Lake, 179 ff.; ordered to Chekiang, 182,
 183; goes to Wuchang, 184; death of, 187, 195.
 Luanching, Chihli, 85.
 Luanchow, Anhui, 216, 278, 279.
 Lüchow, Anhui, 88, 188, 212, 216, 236, 243, 274.
 Luhan, same as Luanchow.
 Lungyang, Hunan, 168.
 Lungp'ing, Chihli, 84.
 Lungyu, Chekiang, 281.
 Macartney, Sir Halliday, 265.
 Mach'en, Hupeh, 207.
 Mao Chang-hsi, 毛昶熙, 319.
 Martin, W. A. P., 246 (n. 1).
 Ma Sin-yi, 馬新貽, 321, 322.
 McLane, Robert, 248 f.
 Meadows, T. T., 71, 246 (n. 1), 247, 249.

- Medhurst, W. H., 247.
- Mêng Tch-en, the Tsanwang, (贊王) 蒙得恩, 206.
- Miao (aboriginal race), 36, 53.
- Miao P'ei-lin, 苗沛霖, betrays the Yingwang, 243; is carefully watched, 274; revolt of, 278; captures Shouchow, 279; blocks the salt-roads in Anhui, 281; capture of, 281.
- Moidrey, Tardiff de, 259.
- Morse, H. B., quoted, 369.
- Muddy Flat, Battle of, 250.
- Muwang (T'an Shao-kwang), 266.
- Nanan, Kiangsi, 213.
- Nanch'ang, Kiangsi, taken, 87, 179; Tsêng isolated there, 184, 192 f.; army retires to in stampede, 195; panic, 197, 231, 234, 294.
- Nank'ang-hsien, Kiangsi, 213.
- Nank'ang-fu, Kiangsi, 181 f., 196.
- Nanking, captured, 80; established as rebel capital, 81 f.; re-named T'ienking, 131; under Eastern King's power, 131; Great Camp routed at, 187; dissensions within, 186, 189, 224, 236, 239, 243, 254, 271, 275, 278 f., 280; mine exploded, 282, 283, 287; capture of, 290, 293, 321, 323, 326, 336, 337, 348, 364, 365.
- Na-ur-ching-ê, 訥爾經額, 84, 85.
- Navy, need for modern, 304.
- Nien rebels (Nienfei), causing anxiety in 1853, 82, 183; combining with Taipings in Anhui, 203, 213, 215, 216; opposed by Yüan Chia-san, 217, 243; increased activities, 1860, 250, 253; fears of their reaching Nanking, 272, 276; in Anhui, 278; defeat at Fanch'eng, 285, 293; sketch of, 296 f.; defeat Senkolintsin, 298; campaigns against, and defeat of, 301 f., 369.
- Ningkuo, Anhui, 189, 217, 221, 223 f., 236, 239, 243, 261, 271, 272, 280, 294.
- Ningkuo-hsien, Anhui, 272, 284.
- Ningpo, 239, 244, 258, 282.
- Niu Hung, Nien chief, 牛洪, 297.
- Northern Expedition, 82 f.
- Pach'ingteh, 巴清德, 44, 45.

- Paho, Hupeh, 154, 208.
- P'an Ting-siug, 潘鼎新, 299.
- Pao Ch'ao, 鮑超, brings force to Kiangsi, 213, 216; at Hsiuning, 224; at Ihsien, 225; keeps Keemun road open, 226; transferred to Nanch'ang, 231; attacks the Chungwang, 233 f.; promotion of, 236, 240; at Ningkuo, 243; illness and defeats of, 272, 278; relieves Luanchow, 279; sent to Ningkuo, 280; goes towards Huchow, 284; in Kiangsi, 286, 289; created a baronet, 292, 293; recalled to the colors, 299; victories of, 301; massacre of rebels, 258, 268.
- Paok'ing, Hunan, 147, 214.
- Paoting-fu, Chihli, 308, 310.
- Parkes, (Sir) Harry, 231 (n. 6), 253.
- Peihsiang, Chihli, 85.
- Peking, 8, 16, 143, 146, 223, 250, 251, 256, 305, 306, 310, 321, 322, 335, 356.
- P'eng Yu-ling, 彭玉麟, 167; supervisor of boat yard, Sint'i, 179; comes in disguise to Nanch'ang, 193; in command, 200; aids in capture of Kiukiang, 207, 208, 221, 226, 234; governor of Anhui, 236, 242, 276; helps capture Hsiakwan, 279; rewarded, 292, 326, 368.
- Pestilence, 271.
- P'inghsiang, Kiangsi, 153.
- P'ingkiang, Hunan, 153, 182, 213.
- P'ingnan-hsien, Kwangsi, 42.
- Pingwen, Kwangsi, 122.
- P'ingyang-fu, Shensi, 70.
- Protet, Admiral, 255.
- Poyang Lake, 171, 177, 200, 277, 285.
- P'ukow, Kiangsu, 82 f., 207, 277.
- Roman Catholic Church, 309, 310, 313 ff., 315.
- Revolutionary Brotherhoods, see Triad Society, White Lily Society.
- Roberts, Rev. I. J., 71.
- Rochechouart, Cte. de, 312, 321.
- Russia, 227, 228.
- Saishanga, 賽尚阿, appointed imperial commissioner,

- 43; recruited braves, 44; attacked Yungan, 46; cashiered, 48, 79; Tsêng recommended heavy punishment for, 145, 147, 368.
- San Ho, Anhui, 188, 211, 344, 346.
- Sanhotsien, Anhui, 279.
- Sankütan, Kiangsi, 202.
- Senkolintsin, 僧格林沁, summoned from Mongolia, 86; defeated by Allies, 223, 250, 251; sent against Nien rebels, and death of, 298.
- Shanghai, 194 f., 220, 222; attack, 224, 238, 239; occupied by Triads, 249; refugees, problem of government, neutrality, 250; attacked by the Chungwang, 252; neutrality abandoned, 253; immunity guaranteed, 254; attempted capture, 1862, 253; thirty mile radius policy, 255, 336, 359.
- Shang K'o-hsi, Prince of Fukien, 8.
- Shangyu, Chekiang, 259.
- Shaohsing, Chekiang, 237, 259, 277, 282.
- Shaotien, Kiangsu, 207.
- Shaowu, Fukien, 211.
- Shenchow, Chihli, 85.
- Sheng Pao, 勝保, pursues rebels northward, 84; appointed imperial commissioner, 85; attacks rebels at Shenchow, 85, 203; helps drive the Yingwang from Hupeh, 207; defeated at Wuyi, 207, 216; transferred to Shensi, 271.
- Shi Ch'iang-chen, 石祥貞, 87.
- Ship'ai, Anhui, 211, 216.
- Shi Ta-k'ai, the Assistant King, (翼王) 石達開, 76; moves across Anhui, 88; appointed Assistant King, 78, 130; family slain, 133; goes to Kiukiang, 177; in Kiangsi, 181, 184; plots against the Eastern King, 186 f.; driven from Nanking, returns, 189; separates from Taipings, 190; overruns Kiangsi, 192, 196, 198, 199; defeat of, 202; enters Chekiang and Fukien, 206 ff.; driven into Hunan, defeated, enters Kwangsi, 213 f.; alarms Ssuch'uan, 215, 230; final wanderings, capture and death of, 275.
- Shit'ai, Anhui, 280, 282.
- Shiwang, see Li Shi-hsien.
- Shouchow, Anhui, 243, 278, 279.
- Shuch'en, Anhui, 211, 215.

- Shuehow, Ssuch'uan, 275.
- Shuichow, Kiangsi, 153, 184, 196, 199, 235, 286.
- Shunan, Chekiang, 294.
- Siang (Hunan) Army, recruited, 147 f.; fights bandits, 149, 153; organisation of, 157; T'a Chi-pu, first commander of, 159; financial arrangements of, 159; defeat at Yangloussu, 161; retreat from Yochow, 162; captures Siangtan, 163; starts out again, 168; through Yangloussu and Hsienning, 169; siege and capture of Wuchang, 172; to T'ienchiachen and Kiukiang, 176 f.; (thereafter separated among various commanders) partly disbanded, 296.
- Siangchow, Kwangsi, 43, 44.
- Siangsiang, Hunan, 141, 199.
- Siangtan, Hunan, 78, 158, 163, 166.
- Siangyang, Hupeh, 301.
- Sint'i, Hupeh, 178.
- Sohyi Ferry, Hunan, 75.
- Soochow, Kiangsu, 219, 223, 236, 239, 266, 267, 279, 282, 283, 284, 287, 359.
- Ssu-ma System: army, 120; villages, 135.
- Ssushui, Honan, 84.
- Suichow, Hupeh, 231.
- Sungkiang, Kiangsu, 224, 252, 254, 265.
- Sunglin, Ssuch'uan, 275.
- Sung Kuo-yung, 宋國永, 224.
- Susung, Anhui, 211, 216, 221.
- Sykes, Colonel, 245 (n. 1).
- T'a Chi-pu, 塔齊布, attacked by regulars, 152; commander of Hunan army, 159; recalled to Changsha, 163; recaptures Siangtan, 163; his earlier record, 167; appointed T'ituh, 167; sent to Yochow, 168 f.; on to Wuchang, 170, 172; to Kiukiang, 176; besieges Kiukiang, 178 f., 180, 182; death of, 183, 208.
- Tahwang Kiang, Kwangsi, 43.
- Tahunga, 達洪阿, 44.
- Taichow, Chekiang, 238, 244, 281.
- T'aihu, Anhui, 207, 211, 217, 221.
- Taihu, Kiangsu, 266.
- Taiping, Anhui, 280.

- Taiping Army, follows ancient ssu-ma system, 119; organisation, flags, seals, 120 ff.; where recruited, 122; discipline of, 123; women in, 124 f.; place of women in Nanking, 126 f.; deterioration of, 171.
- Taiping Government, organised, 43; fuller organisation at Yungan, 46; the offices, 128; presentation of the T'ienwang, 128; five kings appointed, 130; military-socialistic organisation of, 130; Eastern King usurps power in, 131; boards, foreign department, 131; additional wangs 1858, 134, 206; nobility, 135; administrative districts, 135; Chow Dynasty copied, 136; officials as religious instructors, 138; Bible used in civil-service examinations, 139; punishments inflicted, 139 f.; chaos in, 1856, 186 ff.; condition of, 1858, 205.
- Taiping Religious Institutions, supervised worship, 104; services described, 105-107; commandments, 107 ff.; iconoclasm, 114; compulsory worship, 115; prescribed ceremonials for all occasions, 115; how far Christian, 116; departure from Chinese beliefs, 117; Chinese attitude to, 117 f.
- Taiping Social Customs, punishments, 113 f.; sex relations, 114.
- Taiping-wang, see Hung Siu-ch'üan.
- Taitsang, Kiangsu, 264, 279.
- Takut'ang, Kiangsi, 177.
- Tanyang, Kiangsu, 188, 218, 219, 273, 282, 286.
- Taochow, Hunan, 75, 122.
- Tayeh, Hupeh, 176, 233.
- Taylor, Rev. J. Hudson, 304.
- Tehsinga, 德興阿, 203, 207.
- Teian, Hupeh, 182 f., 231.
- T'ienchiachen, Hupeh, 87, 176, 177.
- T'ienteh, see Hung Ta-ch'üan.
- T'ientsin, 86, 321.
- T'ientsin Massacre, 305; account of, 308 f.; Tsêng's position on, 310 ff.; French position, 312; Tsêng coldly received, 312; church vindicated, 313-315; French impatience, Chinese difficulties, 316-320; punishment of officials demanded, 317; war talk, 318; high officials sent to T'ientsin, 319; threat of bombardment, 320; settlement, 320 f., 369.
- T'ienwang, see Hung Siu-ch'üan.
- T'ingchow, Fukien, 295.
- Ting Jih-ch'ang, 丁日昌, 319.

- Tolunga, 多隆阿, 216, 233, 235, 240, 243, 272.
- Triad Society, 30, 43; relation to Taiping movement, 65; aims of, 67; bitterness of Taipings for, 68, 249, 365.
- Trimetrical Classic, quoted, 93, 94, 96-98.
- Tsêng Chen-kan, 曾貞幹, 242, 274.
- Tsêng Chi-tse, 曾紀澤 (son of Kuo-fan), 327, 350.
- Tsêng Kuo-ch'üan, 曾國荃, in Peking, 146; comes to Kian, 198 f.; in mourning, 200; called back to Kian, 202; captures Kian, 209; moves to Hunan border, 211; goes to Kingtechen, 213; commander at Anking, 227, 230, 233; captures Anking, 235; promoted, 236; returns to get recruits, 236, 238, 241; chooses command at Nanking, 242; sets out for Nanking, 243; encampment at Yuhwat'ai, 243; is urged to retire, 261; 46-day battle with the Chungwang, 259, 272 ff.; again urged to retire, 274; receives yellow jacket, 274; appointed titular governor of Chekiang, 278; captures trenches at Yuhwat'ai, 279; progress of siege, 282, 284; jealousies, 286; is persuaded to ask Li Hung-chang for help, 288; captures Nanking, 290; created Earl, 292; appointed governor of Hupeh, 299, 301; retires from office, 302, 307, 326; relations with Kuo-fan, 335, 336, 366, 368.
- Tsêng Kuo-fah, 曾國華, 76, 88; leads 4000 men to Shui-chow, 196, 199, 200, 208; death of, 211; posthumous name granted him, 236; death foretold by planchette, 346.
- Tsêng Kuo-fan, 曾國藩 (文正), 76, 88; estimate of Kiang Chung-yuan, 89; family, and birth of, 141; examinations and promotions, 142 ff.; examiner to Ssuch'uan, 144; gains cabinet rank, 145; death of mother and retirement, 146; ordered to raise militia, 147; goes to Changsha, 148; suppresses bandits, 148; friction with regulars, 149; opposition from villagers, 149; dangerous brotherhoods, 150; advised to build flotilla, 151; militia and soldiers clash, 152 f.; moves to Hengchow, 153 ff.; far-sightedness of, 156; differences with Wang Hsin, 157; decides on small boats, 158 (n.); financial arrangements for expedition, 159; defeat and attempted suicide, 163; quarrel with brother, 164; deploras official crookedness, 165; excellences and limitations of, 166; promoted to third rank, 169; captures Wuchang, offered governorship, 172; leads flotilla to T'ienchia-chen, 176; victory and advance to Kiukiang, 177; defeat and attempted suicide, 178; to Nanch'ang, 179; quarrels with governor, 182; opposes recall of Hunan forces, 183; concentrates army in Nanch'ang, 184, 192; attacked by censors, 194; requests extension of likin, also asks for customs revenues, 194 f.; reproof by emperor, 195 f., 198; strength of his army, 1857, 199 f.; retires for mourning, 200; recalled to the front, 200; explains failures, 198, 201; creates supply bureau, 203; ordered to Chekiang, 208; conference with Hu Lin-yi, 208; ordered to Fukien, 209; stops at Iyang, 210; goes to Kien-ch'ang, 211; is reinforced, 211; his new plans, 212, moves headquarters to Fuchow, 213; reports from Hunan stir his army, 214 f.; ordered to Ssuch'uan, 215; confers with officials in Wuchang and returns, 215; plans to invade Anhui, 216; ordered to Nanking, 1860, 219; recommends Tso Tsung-tang for office, 219; appointed acting viceroy of the Two Kiang, 220; urged to go to Shanghai, 220; appointed imperial commissioner, 222; recommends Li Hung-chang to office, 222 f.; isolated in Keemun, 226; holds to siege of Anking, 226; on Russia's offer of aid, 227; on characteristics of various nations, 228; goes to attack Huichow, 231; sends aid to Anking, 233; attacked by censors, 234; appointed Junior Guardian, 236; receives appeal from the East, 1861, 237; given command of operations in four provinces, 238, 251; opposes foreign aid in the interior, 239 f.; on importance of Shanghai, 241; appointed viceroy, 252; on proposed use of Indian troops, 256 ff.; reluctance to use "Ever Victorious Army," 260 f.; advises Kuo-ch'uan to retire from Nanking, 261; on execution of the surrendered wangs, 267; requests a colleague, 272; discouragement of, 272; report of visit to Nanking, 276 f.; send force against Miao P'eilin, 278; adheres to "anaconda policy," 279, 281, 284; resolves to send for Li and Tso, 286; invites Li to Nanking, 288; resolves on relinquishing power, 289; examines captured wangs, 291, 292; appointed marquis and Senior Guardian, 293; restores civil government in Nanking, 296; ordered against the Nien-fei, 298; granted supreme command, 299; attacked by censors, but remains, 300; resigns command, goes to Nanking, 300, 301; advises brother to hold office, 302; establishes ironworks at Shanghai, 303; the first Chinese built steamer, 303, 304; transferred to Pao-ting-fu, 306; imperial audience, 306 ff., 309; ordered to T'ient-sin, 310; letter regarding this order, 310 f.; pacific policy of, 311 f.; cold reception of, 312; difficulty in apprehending the guilty, 316; recommends, but later regrets, punishment of officials, 317; opposition to, 318; opposes war talk, 318; tries officials, 319; offers list of culprits and settles case, 320; transferred to Nanking, 321; imperial audience, 321 f.; neglected in Peking, 323; arrival in Nanking, 323; memorialises (with Li Hung-chang), urging that students be sent abroad for study, 323 f.; secret memorial concerning centralisation of government, 325, 326; death of, 327; mandate concerning, 327 ff.; genealogy of, 330; grandfather, 330; ideas about family and relation to neighbours, 331-334; strained relations with brothers, 335; effect on later campaigns, 336 f.; on household tasks, 337 f.; on wealth and virtue, 339; on woman's place in the family, 340 f.; on ancestral rites and sacrifices, 341; on proper location of graves, 342 ff.; on omens, 245; on prophecies and planchettes, 245 f.; fatalism of, 346; on Christianity and Buddhism, 346 f.; on Confucianism, 347; on the decrees of Heaven, 347 f.; attitude of towards popular divinities, 349; as official performs sacrifices, 349; faith in the "eight characters," 349 f.; attitude toward "squeeze," 350; independence of, 352; objection to false reports, 352; his ideal of a man, 353; devotion of to study, 354; on doctors, medicine and hygiene, 355 ff.; indifference to rebel suffering, 358; on foreign relations, etc., 359 ff.; place of in literature, 363, 366; causes of slow progress, 366-368; Morse and Hart on, 369, 370; value of Tsêng's work, 370 f.

Tsêng Kuo-hwang, 曾國潢, quarrels with his brother, 164, 209, 331; entrusted with household affairs, 335; creates difficulties for Kuo-fan, 335; asked to draw no more funds, 351; instructed about studies, 355.

Tsêng Li-chang, 曾立昌, 83.

Tsêng Yü-p'ing (Sing-kong), 曾玉屏(星岡), influence on Kuo-fan, 141, 331; youth of, 330; his principles, 337-340; views on ancestral sacrifices, 341, 342, 357.

Tsengwu, Kwangsi, 122.

Tsinchow, Chihli, 85.

Tsinghai-hsien, Chihli, 85.

- Tsingkong, Hunan, 163, 166.
 Tsingpu, Kiangsu, 229, 252.
 Ts'in Jih-kang, the Yenwang, (燕王) 秦日綱 , 177.
 Tso Tsung-tang, 左宗棠 , alters a memorial, 157, 164, 167, 208; recommended to lead an army, 219; desired in Kiangsu, 222; ordered to Ssuch'uan, 224; at Lop'ing, 224; holds communications open, 226, 230; advances to Lop'ing driving off Shiwang, 231 ff.; ordered to Chekiang, 234, 237 f.; governor of Chekiang, 239, 242, 259, 268; captures Yenchow, 275, 276; captures Kinhwa and Shaohsing, 277; viceroy of Minche, 278, 281, 284, 285, 286, 288, 294, 295; viceroy of Shensi-Kansu, 301; pursues Nienfei into Chihli, 301, 326, 336, 352, 366.
 Tsou Ting-san, 44.
 Ts'u An, Empress Dowager, 慈安 , 306.
 Ts'u Hsi, Empress Dowager, 慈禧 , 306, 321.
 Ts'ung Hou, 崇厚 , 309, 310, 312, 317, 318.
 Ts'ungyang, Anhui, 207.
 Ts'ungyang, Hupeh, 163, 169, 172, 233.
 Tuhliu, Chihli, 85.
 Tuhsinga, 都興河 , 203, 211, 213, 240, 243.
 T'ungch'eng, Anhui, 211, 216, 221, 233, 235.
 T'ungch'eng, Hupeh, 163, 193, 233.
 Tungchow, Chihli, 323.
 Tungliu, Anhui, 225, 233.
 Tungshan, Hupeh, 233.
 Tungting Lake, 161, 168, 171.
 Tzeki, Chekiang, 258.
 Ung T'ung-shu, 翁同書 , 216.
 Wang Hsin, 王夔 , 147, 157, 161, 219, 252.
 Wang San, 王三 , 309, 311, 315.
 Ward, Frederick T., xii, 246; captures Sungkiang, 252; failure of at Tsingpu, 252; by whom employed, 252 (n. 16); retires from Kiating-Tsingpu, 255; death of, 258 ff.
 Wei Ch'ang-hui, Northern King, (北王) 韋昌輝 , at-

- attempts to rescue T'ienteh, 47; struggles against Yang and Hsiao, 64, 76; proclaimed Northern King, 78, 130; jealous of Eastern King, 133, 187; cruelties after 1856, 133, 189; murder of, 133, 189.
- Wenchow, Chekiang, 281.
- Wen Tsen, 文俊, 200.
- Western King, see Hsiao Ch'ao-kwei.
- White Lily Society, 30.
- Williams, S. W., quoted, Introduction, xi.
- Women (Taiping), camps of female warriors, 126 ff.; compelled to marry, 138; less repressed than under Manchu rule, 139; expelled from Nanking for lack of food, 175, 285.
- Woosung, Kiangsu, 254.
- Wuchang, captured and abandoned, 78 f., 148; second capture of, 89; importance of, 155, 161; siege of, 172; third loss of, 179; final recapture, 187, 199, 301.
- Wuchang-hsien, Hupeh, 172.
- Wuch'en-chen, Kiangsi, 182.
- Wuhu, Anhui, 183, 234, 241, 261, 276.
- Wukiang, Kiangsu, 220, 266.
- Wu Lan-chen, 武蘭珍, 309, 311.
- Wulant'ai, 烏蘭太, ordered to Kwangsi, 43; battles, 44 ff.; captures T'ienteh, 47; fatally wounded, 47; Tsêng's judgment on, 145.
- Wu San-kwei, 吳三桂, Prince of Yunnan, 8, 9, 78, 366.
- Wusih, Kiangsu, 219.
- Wuhsuen, Kwangsi, 42, 122.
- Wusueh, Hupeh, 80, 178.
- Wuyi, Anhui, 207.
- Wuyüan, Anhui, 212, 226.
- Yangchow, Kiangsu, 82, 83, 203, 243; riot, 304, 313.
- Yang Fu-ch'ing, the Fuwang, (輔王) 楊輔清, 206.
- Yangloussu, 162, 169.
- Yang Pei, 楊霈, 173.
- Yang Siu-ch'ing, King of the East, (東王) 楊秀清, claims Divine inspiration, 39 ff., 50; reseues Hung and Fêng,

- 42; struggle for power, 64; on the Triads, 65; on to Changsha, 77; desires to go to Honan, 81; leads army to capture Wuchang, 89; blasphemous claims and titles of, 99; effect of his claims on westerners, 101; amorous intrigue of, and justification for, 114; presents the T'ienwang, 128, 129; proclaimed King of the East, 77, 130; becomes master in Nanking, 131; usurpations of, 132 f. captures Wuchang, 1854, 161, 171; captures Wuchang, 1855, 179; arrogance of damages Taiping cause, 186 f.; murder of with all his relatives, 133, 189, 365.
- Yang Tsai-fu (later, Yang Yoh-ping), 楊載福 (岳斌)
 , 167; comes to Kingkow with recruits, 182; reaches Kiukiang, 196; left in command, 1857, 200; romantic voyage of, 202; helps capture Kiukiang, 207, 221; helps repulse the Yingwang, 233; captures Ch'ichow, 235; helps outside Nanking, 279, 286; appointed baronet and viceroy of Shensi-Kansu, 292, 368.
- Yenchow, Chekiang, 275, 281.
- Yingwang, see Ch'eng Yu-ch'en.
- Yiyang, Hunan, 78, 168.
- Yochow, Hunan, 78, 161, 168, 171.
- Yüanchow, Kiangsi, 153, 184, 198.
- Yüan Chia-san, 袁甲三 , 180, 203, 217, 243.
- Yüankü, Shansi, 85.
- Yuanshan, Kiangsi, 209.
- Yuhang, Chekiang, 282.
- Yu-hsien, Hunan, 153.
- Yuhwat'ai, outside Nanking, 243, 272, 276, 279, 280.
- Yungan, Kwangsi, taken by insurgents, 45; government there established, 46; siege of, 46 f., 123, 126, 145, 364.
- Yungchow, Hunan, 155, 214.
- Yunghsing, Hunan, 154, 155.
- Yung Wing, 容闳 , 303, 324, 360.
- Yushan, Kiangsi, 226.